

5 myths to debunk about SOFT SKILLS

1

Soft skills don't matter.

In today's collaborative world, soft skills aren't optional, they're essential.

2

You're born with soft skills.

Soft skills are learnable and it takes practice to become a great listener.

3

Only managers need soft skills.

Soft skills help you negotiate better deals, solve problems faster, and build trust with colleagues.

4

Technology makes soft skills obsolete.

AI is transforming how we work, but machines can't replace soft skills like empathy, creativity or values-based judgement.

5

Soft skills are hard to learn.

Everyone can gain soft skills with practice, feedback, and a growth mindset.
