The Division of Continuing Studies at the University of Victoria invites applications for an Instructor for select Spanish-language conversation courses this fall. These classes are part of our World Languages offerings, which are non-credit language courses that focus on real-world communication for working professionals and members of the community.

Currently, we are seeking an Instructor for the evening sections of Spanish: Introductory, Intermediate and/or Advanced for the January 2020 and April 2020 terms. Each of these sections are offered two hours a week over ten weeks in a face-to-face format.

This posting requires native-level fluency in Spanish and previous language teaching experience in a classroom setting for adult learners. We are especially interested in candidates with experience teaching Spanish in the adult education post-secondary context. The ideal candidate will have a bachelor’s degree or equivalent in the field of Spanish language or literature, or in the field of education (or an equivalent combination of an undergraduate degree in another area plus related experience).

Preferred requirements
Applicants must be located within Canada to deliver this course and should have:
- Native-level fluency in Spanish (CEFR C2 or equivalent)
- A bachelor’s degree in Spanish language, literature or in the field of education
- A minimum of three years’ language teaching experience, ideally in the field of adult continuing education

Please submit a résumé with a cover letter and two references by November 18, 2019 to:
